DICTAGRAMS

Here are a few things you may have noticed.

That the Copper publications seldom contain the name of the proprietor.

That the list of death and funeral notices in the Topeka papers is always followed by an advertisement of flowers for sale.

That the list of marriage licenses, likewise is followed by an advertisement of flowers for sale.

That the list of marriage licenses likewise, is followed by an advertisement of wedding rings.

That the trail of the dollar is over everything.

That nothing is too silly, too solemn or too sacred for the commercial spirit to assert itself in connection therewith.

That there is no great loss without some gain. The more you Hooverize the less you have to Fletcherize.

That lists of marriage licenses and obituaries are alike in one respect: Both give the ages of the departed.

That a Missouri wife is suing her husband for divorce because the brute won't talk enough.

But, did you ever hear of a husband making such a complaint?

And have you noticed that September and December always begin with the same day of the week? Likewise April and July?

Also, have you noticed that January, April and July, all begin with the same day of the week in leap years, but not otherwise? What is the rule that governs these repetitions?

Dear Friend:

At this season of the year we find it very difficult to keep the poor that come to us, supplied with clothing and often they go cold and ill clad, not having the money to buy new garments. We should be glad therefore to receive clothing, shoes, etc., even though worn (yet often in good condition) or shop worn goods, to help provide against this cold winter. No matter how few, they would help relieve the situation, and would be a blessing to the poor.

Your for humanity,
J. W. Strum.

Mrs. Givler received the above letter this week from Adjutant Strum, of Kansas City, who is making an appeal for aid for the Salvation army work in that city. Any one having clothing or shoes in a fairly good condition that they would like to donate and will deliver them to the World office Mrs. Givler will see that they are properly boxed and sent to Salvation army headquarters at Kansas City; while the Red Cross and Y. M. C. A. are alright and very worthy of the support of all yet we must not forget the poor, the suffering, the worthy needy of our own land. All donations will be gratefully received and properly sent to Kansas City. Please be as prompt as possible for the box must be sent within the next week or ten days.

H. W. Finch made a business trip to Ogallah last Monday.

Mrs. Vose, of Ellis, visited friends in the city the first of the week.

Mrs. Adolph Schwanbeck who has been seriously sick at her home we are glad to state is somewhat improved.

Banker C. E. Downie was down from Collyer last Monday and transacted business at the Probate Judge's office.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Crocker arrived in Wa-Keeney Tuesday night from Denver, being called here by the death of Mrs. Crocker's father, F. C. Schwanbeck.

John Olson, the big cattleman of the Smoky neighborhood in Franklin township sold 180 head of calves for $70.00 per head. This is sure a big price for calves but they were black polls, and mighty good ones. A party from Ness county purchased them.

Last Monday night F. C. Schwanbeck died very suddenly at his home in Collyer township. Death came very suddenly although he had been in failing health for sometime. We were unable to secure material necessary to give obituary consequently it will not be given until next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bryant arrived from Kansas City last Tuesday morning. Harry attended to business before the Probate Court by settling up the estate of his father, also looking after his cattle, and took a look at his 500 acre wheat patch. He informs us that he is operating a billiard hall with a confectionary and cigar stand in connection. He reports business good and likes city life.

MAZOLA

—the pure oil from corn for better cooking

WHEN housewives first adopted Mazola they found the deep frying, sautéing and shortening medium which they have been seeking for years.

Mazola browns food quickly, preventing any penetration of oil—and gives crisp, delicious dishes free from sogginess, easy to digest.

The results are so much better than with lard or compounds that Mazola is used in thousands of American homes.

And now when Food Administrator Hoover asks us to save butter, lard and suet, the housewife knows that she has a really good vegetable oil.

With Mazola she can help save the country's resources and at the same time give her family the best of food at a notable saving in cost.

Unlike other mediums Mazola does not transmit taste or odor from one food to another—can be used over and over again—a great factor in economy.

And when you want an especially delicious salad dressing, use Mazola. There is no need to give up salads because of the uncertain supply or high prices of olive oil.

Mazola can be had from your grocer in pint, quart, half-gallon and gallon tins. Ask him for the free Mazola Book of Recipes, or write us direct.

Your money refunded if Mazola does not give entire satisfaction.
